CULLEN THOMAS WELL RECEIVED BY HIS FRIENDS

Given Close Attention During His Speech in Advocacy of Candidacy for Senate

IS STRONG FOR THE FARM BLOC

Denounces Militarism and Jingoism and Declares World Cannot Stand Another War

While some may have been disappointed who went to the Plaza to hear Cullen Thomas last night it was apparent that these were but few for a good crowd went to the court room, to which place the speaking was changed after the arrival of the candidate.

Mr. Thomas was introduced by Judge W. F. Moore, who spoke feelingly of their association as school boys and in the legislature later.

He paid a fine tribute to Mr. Thomas as a man and also his brilliant career from his school days to the present time. Judge Moore said that regardless of what might appear as the issues Mr. Thomas stood first of all for humanity and his candidacy was based on humanity's greatest interests.

The enthusiasm with which the speaker was received by his friends was forecast by the reception given him by a number of men and women who met him at the train upon his arrival at 7 o'clock.

The speaker was in unusual good voice and while he hesitated to recognize the introductory words of Judge Moore and to engage in some pleasantry regarding the campaign, he was soon into his usual speech, beginning by paying a tribute to Houston, Rusk, Coke, Reagan, Maxey and others who had held the position which he seeks.

He then took notice of his opponents in a general way, saying that all directed their fight at him. He declared, as he has elsewhere, that the country must have some relief from the high freight rates and spent some time in illustrations and statistics, declaring that the remedy was with congress.

Mr. Thomas, during his speech, invited questions from the audience and some five or six were asked. He answered all of them to the apparent satisfaction of the questioners. At one time the question was asked if he favored the stabilization of farm products and, if so, how? The questioner explaining that Thomas had been quoted as saying he favored fixing prices on corn, cotton, wheat, etc.

Mr. Thomas replied by explaining his position as a war or emergency measure. When he had finish this he polled the crowd to know if they agreed with his position. There was a hearty favorable vote but none to the contrary.

Other issues were discussed as he has at other places and as they have been reported from time to time. His position on the farmers problems received his consideration and he had this to say:

"Higher than the perplexing economic problems that face our country is the attitude of America

Pitched Battle At a Coal Mine

One Union Miner is Dead and a Number of Non-union Miners Reported Killed or Wounded When Darkness Forced Truce.

(Associated Press)

HERRIN, Ill., June 21.—Darkness tonight compelled cessation of hostilities between striking union miners and employes of the Southern Illinois Coal company's strip mine near here, after hours of fighting in which thousands of shots were exchanged.

One union miner is known to have been killed. Reports were out that 12 to 15 employes of the strip mine were killed, but these could not be verified because of confusion at the camp.

Two union miners were wounded seriously and about six others were wounded slightly Three mine guards were reported wounded seriously.

Thousands of persons, many armed, were rushing to the camp tonight, and the confusion made it impossible to check up the casualties reported suffered by the Southern Illinois company's employes.

Shortly before the shooting began here late this afternoon, three of ten men, en route here to work in the strip mine, are known to have been shot down from ambush just out of Carbondale. One of the ten escape dinjury, and the other six swam a creek and were fired on. They have not been accounted for.

Charles Boyd, the man who escaped, declared they had been fired on by at least 75 men.

The dead: Jordan Henderson, 45, of Herrin.

Known injured at Herrin: Joe Pitchovie, of Herrin; James Forrest of Johnson City.

Known wounded at Carbondale: Sidney Borrison, 25, of Chicago, not expected to recover; John Jordan, Chicago; C. W. King, Allentown, Pa.

The scene of the rioting resembled a vritable battlefield. Th strip mine, being a surface colliery, at which coal is scooped off the ground instead of dug in subterranean channels, allowed the employs to interench themselves behind the piles of coal on the ground waiting to be loaded on the cars.

The striking miners, said to number more than 1,000, surrounded the camp, shooting from all sides, and open warfare was conducted for several hours. The bullets spat with machine gun regularity.

The trouble followed an indignation meeting held just outside of Herrin today, following publication of a telegram from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that the workmen at the strip mine, who are members of the Shovelmen's Union, were "common strike breakers." Mr. Lewis' telegram added that the Shovelmen's Union had been outlawed by the American Federation of Labor.

After the firing had continued more than an hour the strip mine employes raised a flag of truce, and when a "runner" from the union forces was sent across the "lines" he was shot in the ankle.

Hostilities then were renewed with greater vigor and later, when the strip miners again raised a white flag, the signal was ignored.

Darkness finally brought the shooting to an end, as it apparently was feared the shots would be misdirected and the fighters would wound their own men.

Efforts to communicate with officials of the miners' union here were unsuccessful tonight. The country for miles around is in turmoil and in West Frankfort miners are canvassing the residences for arms and additions to their forces with success reported in both respects. The streets of Marion are thronged with armed men and all the street corners are congested with gossiping residents.

Persons are flocking to the strip mine in automobiles, wagons and on horseback, and roads leading to the camp virtually are impassable.

A "peace conference" was said to have been held at the camp tonight, but the results of it could not be learned. Colonel Sam Hunter, of the adjutant general's office ,is said to have attended it.

Hugh Fox, president of District number nine of the Illinois miners' union, and Hugh Willis, member of the international board of the United Mine Workers of America, persuaded the men to cease firing and then hoisted a white flag and proceeded to the camp of the strip mine.

Upon their approach, the defending non-union miners also ran up the signal of surrender. Negotiations were immediately begun for the Southern Illinois Coal company to close the mine and deport the men.

The men in a hospital at Carbondalewere injured when the first violence of the day broke out. A truck carrying ten men from Carbondale to the strip mine was fired upon from ambush seven miles southeast of Carbondale.

Charles Boyd, a member of the group of men in the rtuck said, "It semed that 75 men were firing at us. We laid down in the truck bed. The firing grew fiercer. Finally all of us leaped from the truck and scattered out across the fields under fire."

In their escape at least five men were wounded. Six made a geaaway by swimming a small stream.

LESTER MADE APPEAL TO GOVERNOR SMALL

(Associated Press)

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 21.—W. J. Lester of Chicago, president of the Southern Illinois Coal company sent a telegram to Governor Len Small here tonight stating that "mobs are rising and attacking our workers at our mine near Herrin and troops are necessary to prevent further loss of life."

Governor Small called Adjutant General Carlos Black at Springfield who told him that the authorities had the situation well in hand and that troops were not necessary at this time.

GENERAL CARR RE-ELECTED AS HEAD OF U. C. V.

Kirkpatrick of Texas Continued as Commander of the Trans-Mississippi Department

HISTORIES FAIR TO THE SOUTH IN GENERAL USE

W. McDonald Lee of Lexington, Va., is New Head of the Sons of Confederate Veterans

(Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Va., June 21.—The re-election of General Julian S. Carr of Durham, N. C., as commander in chief, and the selection of New Orleans as the reunion city in April, 1923, featured the closing session here today of the thirty-second annual reunion of the the United Confederate veterans.

General Carr's election followed a hot debate resulting from the nomination of General J. A. Thomas of Georgia by A. J. Twiggs of Augusta.

As soon as General Thomas was nominated General W. M. Wroten of Mississippi announced that the entire Mississippi delegation supported General Thomas.

A member of the Mississippi delegation jumped to his feet and exclaimed that this was untrue and that the delegation favored General Carr.

An argument between the dissenter and General Wroten ensued. When order had been restored Geeral Thomas withdrew his name in the interest of harmony and good feeling, whereupon General Carr was elected by acclamation.

Other officers named were: General J. A. Thomas, commander of the army of Tennessee; Lieutenant General C. D. Howry, Washington, D. C., commander of the army of Northern Virginia; Lieutenant General E. W. Kirkpatrick of Texas, commander of the trans-Msississippi department.

Staff officers and other officials of the veteran organization will be appointed by commanders at a later date, it was announced.

At the closing session of the Sons of Confederate Veterans late today W. McDonald Lee of Irvington, Va., was elected commander in chief.

The adoption of a resolution, calling on congress to amend the law creating the Arlington "Hall of Fame" so that Confederate generals could be represented therein and the unanimous endorsemnt of a report from the historical committee recommending that a history written by Colonel Huger W. Jackson of Curryville, Ga., in which, according to the report, it is stated that Abraham Lincoln "deliberately and personally conceived the war between States" be used in the schools of the South, featured the Veterans' morning session. The report stated that Mississippi, Texas, the Carolinas and Louisiana are "now using histories fair to the South."

The report, submitted by C. M. Walker, concludes by saying "that the young children of the South will now be taught that the South was eternally and everlastingly right, in fighting for principles upon which our glorious country was founded."

At noon the veterans paused in their deliberations long enough to hold a memorial service in honor of the young men who fell in battle during the world war.

DEFENSE OF LINCOLN BY HENRY B. RANKIN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 21.—Defending the memory of Abraham Lincodln from the charge made today by the United Confederate Veterans at Richmond, that he was "personally responsible for forcing the war upon the South," Henry B. Rankin, 85, who studied law in Lincoln's law office and has written books about him, tonight declared the charge "a lie."

Mr. Rankin procured his "Personal Recollections of Lincoln," and commented as he turned its pages.

"No man that ever lived," Mr. Rankin said, "was more lied about as to his personal manner and purposes of life. He was most essentially a man of peace. He detested war. During the war he went with Seward and met the Confederate cabinet and challenged them to take a white sheet of paper and write whatever conditions of peace they desired except secession, but nothing came of it."

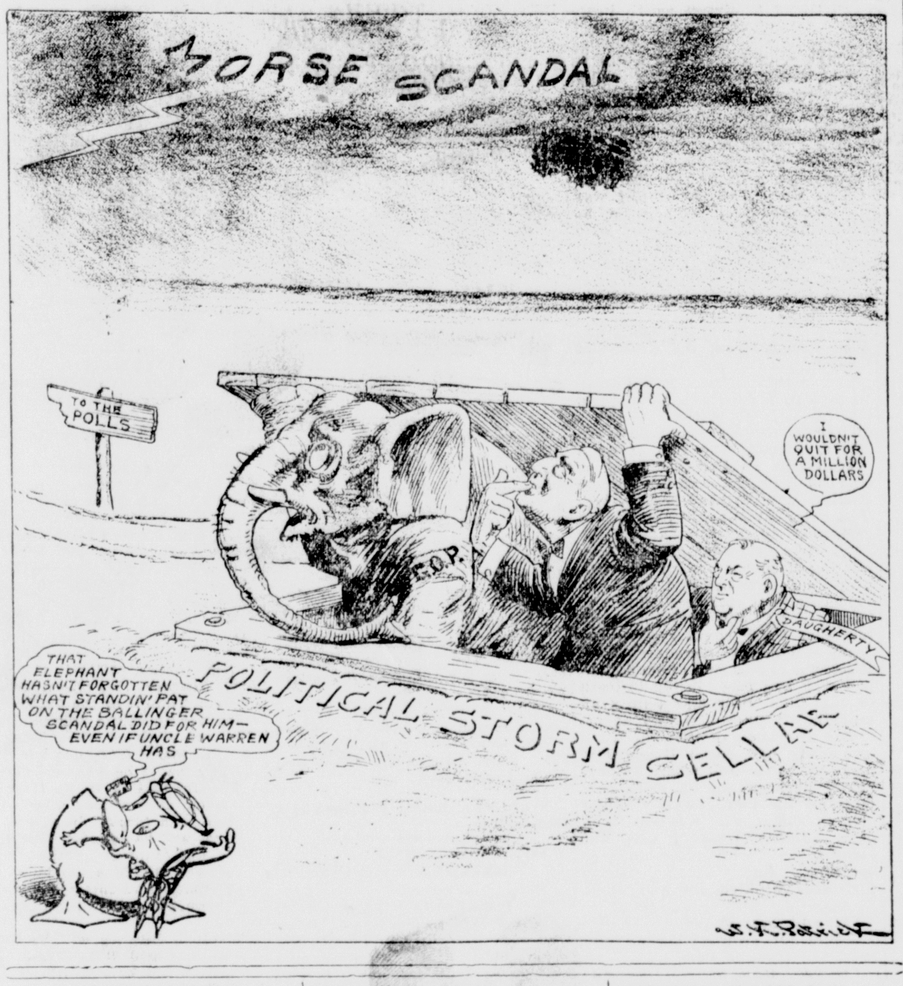

"Listen," Mr. Rankin added, "to a part of Lincoln's first inauguration. He addresses the South. 'In your hands, my dissatisfied fellow countrymen,' he says, 'and not in mine is the momentous issue of civil war. The government will not assail you. You can have no conflict without being yourselves the aggressors. You have no oath registered in Heaven to destroy the government, while I shall have the most solemn one to preserve, protect and defend it'."

Active war was started by the South, Mr. Rankin said, "when the Star of the West, a United States vessel carrying provisions to Fort Sumpter, was fired on. Then and then only did Mr. Lincoln act. He called for 75,000 volunteers."

Mr. Rankin said he could not imagine what prompted the Confederate veterans to renew their charge at this time. When the question "do you think it will damage Mr. Lincoln's history?" was put to him, he responded immediately, "No, because it's a lie."

SALE OF LUMBER IS INQUIRED INTO

Federal Grand Jury at Washington Has Summoned Many Bankers from South

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Subpoenas have been sent out by the special war frauds grand jury to officials of leading banking corporations in New York, Philadelphia, New Orleans and Jacksonville, it became known today, requiring their appearance in connection with the investigation of the contract under which the government disposed of its surplus lumber after the war.

Heads of the banking firms and their cashiers were oredered to produce all records of transactions made by or involving J. L. Phillips, chairman of the Georgia State republican committee, who is at liberty on $25,000 bail, under charges of conspiracy to defraud the government through the lumber contracts.

SHERIFF AND A MINISTER SLAIN

Aged Oregon Farmer Protected His Still from a Raid by the Authorities

(Associated Press)

ALBANY, Ore., June 21.—C. M. Kendall, sheriff of Linn county, and Rev. Roy Healy, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, were shot and killed instantly by Dave F. West, 60, a farmer living near Plainview, this county, late today.

The shooting took place at the West farm where the sheriff and the minister, acting as a deputy sheriff, had gone to raid a suspected moonshine still.

David F. West, who shot and instantly killed Sheriff Kendall and Rev. Roy Healy at his ranch home here today, tonight shot and instantly killed himself after being barracaded in his home since shooting the officer and minister.

WEEKS FAVORS MODIFICATION

Secretary of War Believes There is a Demand for Light Wine and Beer

(Associated Press)

CHESTER, Pa., June 21.—Secretary of War Weeks in an interview here today was quoted as saying that he favored a modification of prohibition law. He said he had found a general sentiment in favor of an amendment to the Volstead act. The people, the secretary was quoted as saying, want beer and light wines and if he were in congress he would aid them.

Referring to the statement of Senator Capper of Kansas that Secretary Weeks should resign because of his speech in Ohio last week, the secretary said that Senator Capper did not appoint him.

"You can't be in tune with everybody all the time," said the secretary, "and this shows Senator Capper and I do not accord in our opinion."

COURT OF APPEALS FULLY SUSTAINED

Supreme Court Passed Upon the Garner Case Adversely to Judge McDowell

(Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Texas, June 21.—The supreme court today denied the petition of District Judge McDowell of Beaumont to file mandamus proceedings seeking to force the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals to rescind its action re-instating Sheriff Garner of Beaumont during pendency of his appeal from the decision of the district court ousting him from office because of alleged membership in the Ku Klux Klan.

"It cannot be doubted that the Beaumont court of Civil Appeals was authorized to consider and determine the right of Garner to continue in office during pendency of his appeal," the opinion by Associate Justice Greenwood read in part, "and to protect and enforce that right, if affirmed, in the exercise of the court's power to issue all writs necessary to enforce its jurisdiction."

The appeal court's action "was not void," it was held.

TO REDUCE NUMBER OF ARMY OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, June 21—House and senate conferees on the army appropriation bill agreed late today on a maximum of 12,000 officers as the permanent strength for the army for the next 12 months. The house had provided for only 11,000, while the senate amended the bill to provide an average of 12,500 for the coming year.

The agreement leaves one question of importance to be decided, the committee already having settled on an enlisted strength of 125,000 for the next year.

Methods of reducing the number of officers from the present number of more than 13,000 to that prescribed by the bill have proved a stumbling block.

BANKERS ARE TO MEET HERE TODAY

Formal Organization of the Nineteenth District is to Be Perfected

E. H. McGlasson has called a meeting of the State bankers in Northeast Texas to assemble in Paris this afternoon for the purpose of perfecting organization of the nineteenth district.

Recently a conference of the State bankers—those who are conducting State banks—was held at Waco; and there decision was reached to perfect organization by districts for educational purposes.

During recent months there has been some agitation which has developed that the general public is not so well informed in the matter of banks and the difference between them; and it has also developed that there are some changes needed in the State banking laws if the banks are to function as they properly should, with profit to the communities and to themselves.

It is not deemed probable that a State meeting would develop the sort of discussion among bankers needed just now, hence the decision to organize by districts for the general good of the banks and for the public.

The visiting bankers will assemble at 3 o'clock at the Gibraltar, where they will be called to order by Mr. McGlasson. Rev. F. L. Wear will offer the invocation and W. H. Atkinson will make an address of welcome, to be responded to by W. W. Pierce of Cooper.

Afterward there will be formal organization and then a free discussion of the matters of interest.

At 6 the visitors will go to the Gordon country club, where they will have a swim and later will take dinner, at which there will be a few talks along the line of "good of the order."

MACON, Ga., June 21.—Six tourists bound from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for Nicholasville, Ky., were killed late today when a Central of Georgia passenger train crashed into their automobile.

EFFORT TO FIGHT PERIODIC FLOODS

The Counties in the Valley of the Colorado Will Form an Association

(Associated Press)

WHARTON, Texas, June 21.—Four counties comprise the Colorado river flood control organization formed here Wednesday. The organization will foster plans to prevent loss from overflows on this stream and if possible secure Federal aid in curbing periodical floods along the river.

Matagorda, Colorado, Fayette and Wharton counties have definitely decided to enter the fight for relief from overflows and a campaign will be waged to get other counties to join in a concerted effort to clear the Colorado of rafts and obstructions now causing much of the overflow.

The plan outlined also embodies conservation of the waters in the upper stretches of the Colorado, using it in dry sesaons above and preventing its pouring into the lowlands nearer the gulf.

AN IMPROVEMENT IN COTTON CROP

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Substantial improvement in the cotton crop was reported today by the weather bureau in its weather and crop review for the week ending Tuesday.

"The weather also was favorable for cultivation of cotton," the review said, "and this work made satisfactory progress while the high temperatures were instrumental in checking weevil activity, although they continue numerous in most sections.

"The condition of the crop in Oklahoma ranged from poor to excellent. In Texas it was in fair condition in the southern portion, very good in the north and northwest, but mostly poor elsewhere.

"Under the influence of the warm dry weather in Arkansas cotton made good progress."

MEXICAN TOWN WAS SWEPT BY A WATERSPOUT

Many Houses of Allende are Reported as Having Been Washed Away

MUCH COTTON HAS BEEN LOST IN FLOOD

Estimated that It Will Amount to a Million and a Half ollars near Mercedes

EAGLE PASS, Texas, June 21.—A real water spout fell in Allende, according to a message and two arroyos brought the rushing torrent down through principal streets of that Mexican city of 10,000. Many houses of adobe construction fell and six Mexican soldiers were killed when their barracks was destroyed.

BROWNSVILLE IS AWAITING THE FLOOD

(Associated Press)

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 21.—The secondary and more threatening flood stage in the Rio Grande, which had its origin in the country above Eagle Pass a few days ago, began to develop at Rio Grande City, at the head of the lower Rio Grande valley, this afternoon. It is expected to reach Mission in about thirty hours.

Meanwhile, the crest of the primary rise which originated in the Monterery, Mex., section and flowed into the Rio Grande through the San Juan and Salado rivers of Mexico between Rio Grande City and Zapata, Texas, is passing the populated sections of the lower valley between Mission and Brownsville. It is rapidly approaching the Gulf of Mexico.

New outlets that are being forced constantly by the primary rise are expected to mitigate the seriousness of the secondary rise, but towns on both sides of the river which were waterbound in the earlier flood are reported preparing to face even more serious conditions when the approaching rise appears.

Strangely, the Rio Grande at Brownsville was lower today than it has been for some days, in the face of the record rise at Mission, only sixty miles west of here on Sunday. Ordinarily it requires something less than three days for high waters to reach here from Mission. The stream is very tortuous between these points. The mouth of the Rio Grande is only 20 miles due east from Brownsville, but 90 miles by meanderings of the stream. Observers say that the lowered stage is accounted for in the spreading out of the waters over Hidalgo county and the Mexican lowlands.

With the exception of the quickly closed levee break near San Benito early today, which damaged only 100 acres, all levees continued holding in Cameron county today.

MILLION AND A HALF LOSS TO COTTON CROP

(Associated Press)

MERCEDES, Texas, June 21.—Nearly 15,000 acres of first lift land in Hidalgo county is reported under water as a result of the Rio Grande flood, with an estimated damage to the cotton crop of $1,500,000.

Efforts to protect against further damage in this vicinity were centered tonight at the levee, north and west of the city. Three hundred men and teams are working day and night. This levee protects the Laferia and Harlingen districts. It was reported holding well at 5 p. m.

GREAT LOSS IN THE IRRIGATED DISTRICT

(Associated Press)

ALAMO, Texas, June 21.—Eighty per cent, of the crops on the "first lift" lands, those nearest the river, are reported ruined.

Whether there has been any loss of life in Hidalgo county is undetermined. All residents of the flooded area are said to have been warned in time to move to higher ground.

MANY RANCHES HAVE BEEN INUNDATED

(Associated Press)

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, June 21.—The flood waters of the Rio Grande are over the banks of Lossaens settlement, 12 miles west of here.

Many cattle ranches on both sides of the river are inundated and all communication is cut off. The fate of the inhabitants is unknown.

From a Seat in the Gallery

By HERBERT COREY.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Cheers for Secretary of State Hughes. Heavy, full-bodied, guttural cheers. But not the ringing sort. It is very hard to get the newspaper bunch in Washington to cheer ringingly for any one.

The bunch gathers in the corridor outside the diplomatic reception room. Or outside a diplomatic reception room. It smokes cigarettes, talks politics, ruminates over Harry Daugherty and the war profiteers, takes a few flitting slaps at our honored president and watches the newest woman reporter. Sometimes it then turns away its eyes. Sometimes it goes on watching. An under-secretary or something opens the door. The bunch files in. Some park on a roundabout, over-stuffed leather divan in the center of the room. The air immediately becomes blue and thick:

"Gentlemen."

Mr. Secretary Hughes has stepped in. His blue eyes gleam. One would say, at the first gleam, that this is one of the nicest, most friendly, most likable men in the world. So nice that one would would say—at first gleam— that he is almost easy. His teeth shine. Fine, large, strong teeth, like those of the wolf in the story of Little Red Ridinghood. Extraordinarily fine, large, white teeth. His beard is brushed both ways to the last last hair. Clothes well fitting, easy, dignified. The whole air of the man is one of competence and good humor and success. He enjoys his job. One can see that.

Almost Alarmingly Candid.

"This morning," he begins. Then he expounds the particular problem that the State Department wishes to expound that day. He is often almost alarmingly candid. Memories of Robert Lansing, who hated newspaper men and William Jennings Bryan, who did not always know what it was all about, overcome veteran reporters. They sob brokenly. To think that a secretary of state would actually take the public into the confidence of his department is like the shadow of a great rock on a weary day.

"This," they mumur brokenly, "this is almost too much."

The reporters have stopped smoking. Most of them have stopped smoking, anyhow. Those who persist learn in time that smoking is not relished. Various questions are asked. Mr. Hughes replies with such smiles, such happiness, such a blue-birdish enjoyment that the reporters smile back. One feels that these little playmates are running the state between them. One feels that the Fourth Estate is indeed entering into its own. One feels that true democracy is hitting on all eight.

"What about Haiti?" asks some reporter who has been deceived by this illusive air of cordial candor.

"Nothing to say," says Mr. Hughes. The smile persists but there is an icy gleam now about the teeth. Their resemblance to the furnishings of the animal in the nursury tale becomes more striking. Mr. Hughes' blue eyes become frosty. The smile persists—I have said the smile persists—but there is a warning in it. The man's bearing is that of an alert fencer. He is on his toes.

The Same About Santo Domingo.

"Or Santo Domingo?"

"Nothing to say."

The reporters consider this statement in silence for a time. It is final. It is definite. There may, perhaps, be something to say but it will not be said. A silence grows. The veteran reporters cheer up. After all, the reserves of diplomacy are not being seriously broken in upon. Mr. Hughes has established a moral ascendency. He becomes social, lovable, pleasing again:

"Then gentlemen, if that is all?"

The audience is over. The reporters file out. Cheering, no doubt, but cheering almost inaudibly.

SUN YAT SEN IS NOW A PRISONER

Li Yuan Hung Says He May Either Sit in the Council or Travel Abroad

(Associated Press)

PEKING, June 21.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, former president of the South China republic, has been taken prisoner by the United China forces and is being held captive on the Chinese cruiser Haichi in the West river, near Canton, according to advices received here by the foreign legation from Canton.

President Li Yuan Hung declared today that he was prepared to invite Sun Yat Sen to Peking to help in the reunification and reconstruction of the country.

In this connection President Li said, "Sun Yat Sen once declared that he intended to tour foreign countries as soon as contsitutional goverment was restored in China. That object has been fully attained and the time has come for Sun to start. If he cannot realize his purpose, I will welcome him to Peking. I see no reason why he should not sit at the same table with me and discuss China's future."

Mutiny in North China.

SHANGHAI, June 21.—Between 10,000 and 15,000 northern forces sent against Sun Yat Sen's army in Kiangsi province mutinied at Kangfu, and raided portions of Kangfu and other nearby cities and killed many of the residents, according to unconfirmed but apparently authentic reports from various sources at Hankow and Nanchang. The troops were under command of General Tsaie Chen Hsuh, military commander of Peking.

TULSA, Ok., June 21.—The sacrifice of a quart of blood by O. R. Johnson, a prisoner in the county jail charged with grand larceny, may save the life of an unnamed middle aged woman, charity patient in a local hospital.

FLOOD CONTROL.

With three disastrous floods in Texas this year, some attention should be attracted to the matter of flood control. During the years in which there has been discussion of the matter nothing has been really accomplished save the establishment of two bureaus of the State government; and while these have proved valuable within limited scope they have not been functioning in the manner which was intended when they were established.

They have accumulated much data, however, and should the legislature set about the task of relieving Texas of the great losses involved in the periodic floods this accumulated information would be of immense value and would save valuable time.

However, the legislature of Texas has only sixty days of the regular session in which to consider a multiplicity of matters involving the welfare of the State and the time is too short in which to give consideration to more than a very few of them; hence the neglect of a problem which involves millions of dollars and scores of lives from year to year.

A TAX ON GASOLINE.

Chairman Hubbard of the State highway commission now proposes a tax of 1 cent on gasoline to provide a fund for the further construction of highways in the State.

The proposal for a tax on gasoline has also been made as furnishing a fund with which to supplement the ad valorem tax for the benefit of the public schools.

It would appear tolerably certain that there is to be a tax on gasoline but the point will be as to where the resultant figures are to go. That means something of a contest in the legislature; and some of the legislators would immediately make the point that at least 50 per cent of the tax should remain in the county where it is levied, thus giving the big counties a further fund and benefiting the smaller counties very little from that method.

If the tax be levied for the highways, then the whole sum should be given the highway department, where it may be used to match the Federal road money; thus benefiting every county in the State eventually; for it will be used in connecting on the highways which are now in existence or which are being built.

Little Stories for Bedtime

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Unc' Billy Tells Jimmy Skunk a Secret.

Be sure before you drop a friend
That you've done nothing to offend.

A friend is always worth keeping. Unc' Billy Possum says so, and he knows. He ought to, for he had made a lot of them in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows, in spite of the pranks he has cut up and the tricks he has played. And when Unc' Billy makes a friend he keeps him. He says that it is easier and a lot better to keep a friend than to make a new one. And this is the way he goes about it. Whenever he finds that a friend is angry with him he refuses to be angry himself. Instead, he goes to that friend, finds out what the trouble is, explains it all away, and then does something nice.

Jimmy Skunk and Unc' Billy had been friends from the time that Unc' Billy came up from ol' Virginny to live in the Green Forest. In fact, they had been partners in stealing eggs from the hen house of Farmer Brown's boy. So when Jimmy Skunk, who had made a special call on Prickly Porky to find out if he had seen the strange creature without head, tail, or legs that Peter Rabbit said had chased him, told everybody that Prickly Porky had said that he had seen nothing of such a creature, he was very much put out and quite offended to hear that Unc' Billy was telling that Prickly Porky had told him that Peter might really have some reason for his queer story. It seemed to him that either Prickly Porky had told him an untruth or that Unc' Billy was telling an untruth. It made him very angry.

The afternoon of the day when Unc' Billy had dared Reddy Fox to go up to the hill where Prickly Porky lives at sun-up the next morning he met Jimmy Skunk coming down the crooked little path. Jimmy scowled, and was going to pass without so much as speaking. Unc' Billy's shrewd little eyes twinkled, and he grinned as only Unc' Billy can grin.

"Howdy, Brer Skunk?" said he.

Jimmy just frowned harder than ever, and tried to pass.

"Howdy, Brer Skunk?" repeated Unc' Billy Possum. "You'all must have something on your mind."

Jimmy Skunk stopped.

"I have," he snapped. "I want to know whether it is you or Prickly Porky who has been telling an untruth. He told me that he hadn't seen anything like what Peter Rabbit said chased him, and you've been telling around that he told you that Peter may have good grounds for that foolish story. If Peter saw that thing Prickly Porky would know it, or he hasn't been away from home this summer. Why would he tell me that he hasn't seen it if he has?"

"Don' be hasty, Brer Skunk. Don' be hasty," replied Unc' Billy, soothingly. "Ah haven't said that Brer Porky told me that he had seen the thing that Peter says he saw. He told the truth when he told you that he hadn't seen any stranger around his hill. What he told me was that—" Here Unc' Billy whispered.

Jimmy Skunk's face cleared.

"That's different," said he, beginning to smile.

"Of course it is," replied Unc' Billy. "Yo' see, Peter did see something strange even if Brer Porky didn't. Ah have seen it mahself,

"Don't be hasty, Brer Skunk; don't be hasty," replied Unc' Billy soothingly.

and now Ah invites yo' to be over at the foot of Brer Porky's hill at sun-up tomorrow mo'ning and see what happens when Brer Fox tries to show how brave he is. Only don' forget that it's a secret."

Jimmy was chuckling by this time. "I won't forget, and I'll be there," he promised. "I'm glad to know that nobody has been telling untruths, and I beg your pardon, Unc' Billy for thinking you might have been."

"Don' mention it, Brer Skunk, don' mention it. Ah'll be looking fo' yo' tomorrow mo'ning," replied Unc' Billy, with a sly wink that made Jimmy laugh aloud.

THE RIGHT WORD

OMITTING "THAT"

(Find the error in this article)

If an adjective clause is restrictive, serving to identify the antecedent of the relative pronoun), the word that can be omitted. The relative pronoun is then understood.

The above construction is possible, however, only when the omitted that is the object of the following verb of preposition; as, the idea (that) you have is not bad; I still have the horse (that) you sold me; the man (that) you were speaking of.

Additional Suggestions

It is preferable to use, who, whom, or which when the relative pronoun is some distance from its accompanying verb; as, this is the train which every one says usually arrives late; there were many persons who, when they realized that there were no seats left, were much disappointed; now that we are ready Smith whom you said some time ago the club had elected secretary was not on hand. This rule is also applicable to a relative pronoun that is placed at some distance from its antecedent; as, the books which (though badly mutilated, I shall accept, and which I shall keep for future reference are on the table in the other room.

When the antecedent is modified by that, the relative pronoun should be who, whom, or which; as, that look which you gave me.

The relative pronoun that never follows a preposition as an object, and this forces the preposition to the end of the clause; as, you have seen the man that I am telling you about; you have seen the man I am talking about.

Wonted: "Commonly used or done; habitual; customary, usual. Made familiar; content, or attached by custom; accustomed; as, the fowls have become wonted to the place."—Standard.

Pronunciation: wunt' ed (u as in but; e as in. get.)—Standard, Oxford, Webster and Century.

For observation: wont (noun); went (adjective).

Origin: wont, pp of wonen (middle English), which in turn is derived from wunian—dwell (Anglo Saxon).

ROBERT OSBURN WITH THE DEAD

One of the Most Popular Young Men in Paris Succumbed to Appendicitis

Robert Osburn passed away Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock after an illness extending over several days. He was stricken with appendicitis and was hurried to the Sanitarium, where an operation was performed; but this proved unavailing.

When he was stricken Mr. and Mrs. Osburn were in San Francisco but they hurried home and were with their son in his last minutes. Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Osburn; Louis, Randolph and Irwin, brothers; and Mary, his sister.

Robert Osburn was a young man who was universally beloved. "Bob" fitted him as a name, suggesting the sort of smiling, happy, kindly disposed boy he was. Always with a cheery good word, a flash of a smile; quiet in demeanor yet giving the impression of a forceful character which was not belied in his home and business life.

He was born at Gatesville, Nov. 22, 1897; and came with his parents to Paris about ten years ago. He was a graduate of Paris High, '17, taking honors in the scientific course. When he left school he entered the employ of the Osburn Motor Company and became a right hand to his father.

He was a consistent member of the First Baptist church and was also a member of all the Masonic bodies, holding office in the Royal Arch Chapter. He was a member of Hella Temple of the Shrine.

He was an active member of the Elks and of the Adsters, being one of the main dependencies when things were to be accomplished.

The funeral is to be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the family home on Clarksville street. The services will be conducted by Revs. Wear and Finnell at the home. Afterward the Masonic lodge will take charge and interment will be in Evergreen after the Masonic service.

The pall bearers will be Edwin Norment, Lloyd Bills, Frank Barnett, Lex Buchanan, Albert Gullick, Connor Dickson.

Masonic Call.

All members of Paris Lodge, No. 27, A. F. and A. M. are requested to meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the lodge room for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late brother, Robert Osburn. Those having cars are requested to bring them.

Mrs. Henry Smith.

Mrs. Lizzie Smith, the wife of Henry Smith, a well known farmer, who lives just north of the city near the abattoir, died at her home at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. She had been a patient at the sanitarium three months and returned home about ten days ago. She was about 35 years old and is survived by her husband and two adopted children. The funeral service will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, conducted by Rev. N. C. Walters. Burial will be at Hopewell cemetery.

W. F. Chambliss.

W. F. Chambliss, an old resident of Delta county, who was known among his friends as "Clark" Chambliss, died Monday evening at his home at Lake Creek where he had lived a long time. He served as a mail carrier for about twenty years. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. H. C. Bryan of Enloe and Mrs. L. P. Donaldson of Lake Creek. The latter was married only a few days ago. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at Lake Creek cemetery and was largely attended.

Mrs. G. N. Martin.

Mrs. Mollie Baker Martin, the wife of G. N. Martin, a building contractor, died at the family residence on East Houston street at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning after an illness of a few weeks. She was born in Cass county, but had lived here nearly all of her life, and besides her husband is survived by two sons, Searcy and William Martin, and a daughter, Miss Eupha Martin, all of whom live in Paris. One of the sons, Searcy, was in overseas service.

The funeral service will be held at the residence at 10 o'clock this morning, conducted by Rev. J. Leslie Finnell, assisted by Rev. Claude Carlton. She had been a member of the First Christian church a long time. The burial will be at Evergreen cemetery.

FEDERAL RESERVE HAS CUT THE RATE

New York Bank Follows Lead of Bank of England and Reduces to Four Per Cent

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Announcement after the close of business today that the local Federal reserve bank had reduced its discount rate from 4½ to 4 per cent, the lowest rate since December, 1917, occasioned little surprise in financial circles.

Such a course was virtually foreshadowed last week when the Bank of England, still the arbiter of the world's money market, cut its discount rate to the lowest since Jaunary, 1914.

Within the past fortnight, reserve banks at other ceners have sought the approval of the board at Washington for lowering their rates of discount and inerest because of the cheaper quotations for funds in the open market. It is almost certain that the action of the local bank will be followed by most of the other branch institutions throughout the country.

SUPERFEX Burners

The new Oil Range that equals the cooking speed of gas and is absolutely reliable

1897
2W

Here is the latest and greatest New Perfection—the new Oil Range that at last combines gas-stove speed and convenience with oil-stove economy

THIS is the remarkable new stove you have seen advertised in the leading magazines. It has won instant and enthusiastic approval the country over.

Its amazing speed is due to the double-walled, double-draft Superfex Burner—a new and revolutionizing invention. This marvelous burner produces clean, odorless heat that leaps at the touch of a match to sear a roast or rush a tardy meal.

And the range itself is a real beauty with its pure white porcelain warming cabinet. It has longer and higher cooking top, of long-lived black porcelain enamel. The frame is sturdy, handsome and range-like—and there is an extra strong shelf for pots and pans. Look for the name SUPERFEX on the artistic gray burners.

This new super-stove is an addition to the world-famous line of New Perfection stoves with Blue Chimney Burners, now used in more than 4,000,000 homes. The new stove adds gas stove speed and greater convenience the year 'round.

"Use ice the way you burn coal"

THE economical way to stoke your furnace is to keep the fire box full. The economical way to cool your refrigerator is to keep the ice chamber full.

You save ice because it melts more slowly; and you preserve your food better, by keeping the temperature down. The ice chamber should never become less than half full—for best results.

It is very poor economy to take less ice than you really need. You fail to get full benefit from it. Half a day without enough ice may spoil a refrigerator full of food.

The Secret of Most Eye Troubles

We are continually warning people against the dangers of eye-strain because eye strain is the cause of most all eye troubles, and eye-strain—we want you to know is not a disease that can be overcome by drugs, it is a mechanical defect which can be corrected by glasses only. Optometrists have the proper equipments to examine eyes and determine whether it is strain or disease. If disase you will be promptly told so—so you can seek your physician for medical advice.

Bear in mind the house to house peddler can not tell you if he would—and we warn you against, such faker peddlers. They are not qualified to practice in an office, or else they would surely do it rather than knock on peoples doors for a chance to sell glasses. Real Optometrists get business in their offices and render first-class services. So why don't you report their violations of law to the shreiff instead of throwing your money away for trash at a much higher price than the real Optometrist charges for first class services and glasses.

PARIS FEDERAL BUILDING PLANS

Only One Story is to Be Constructed Under the Act Just Passed by House

Here is a copy of the Paris postoffice bill which has been recently passed finally by the house and sent to the senate for action. The bill was drawn by Congressman Black and has been put through the house in most excellent time:

Mr. Black introduced the bill April 14, 1922; which was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds and ordered to be printed. The committee approved and reported it favorably, whereupon the house passed it.

A Bill amending existing law which authorizes the construction of a public building at Paris Texas, so as to empower the Secretary of the Treasury to acquire a new site for same by exchanging therefor land and property now owned by the United States Government in said city; and to authorize the erection on said new site, when acquired, a public building suitable for postoffice purposes; and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That existing law authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to expend $170,000 "for the purpose of supplying the necessary building for the Federal court, postoffice, and other Government offices at Paris, Texas," be, and the same is hereby amended so as to authorize and empower the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, to exchange and convey to the city of Paris, Texas, by the usual quitclaim deed, the present Federal building and so much of the site thereof in the city of Paris, Texas, bounded as follows: Fronting one hundred and twenty-three and seven-tenths feet, more or less, on the east side of North Church street, and extending eastwardly, of that width, along the south side of East Houston street, one hundred and seven and four-tenths feet, more or less, for the title in fee simple to the site known as the Young Men's Christian Association property, together with the adjoining site known as the Click lot, bounded as follows: Fronting two hundred and sixteen feet, more or less, on the west side of North Twenty-third street, and extending eastwardly between the south side of East Houston street and the north side of Lamar street, seventy-one feet, more or less: Provided, That the United States shall have the right to occupy the present Federal building, free of cost, until the new Federal building is ready for occupancy. That upon said new site, when acquired as aforesaid, the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to cause to be erected a suitable and commodious building, including fire-proof vaults, heating and ventilating apparatus, approaches, and so forth, complete, for the use and accommodation of the postoffice at not to exceed the limit of cost above stated, and said building shall be so constructed that accommodations for the United States courts and other Government offices may be provided at a later date at an increase in the limit of cost to be hereafter fixed. The general annual appropriations for the repair, mechanical equipment, maintenance and operation of public buildings under the control of the Treasury Department shall be available for the present Federal building in said city so long as said building shall be occupied by the Government.

The new building is to be so constructed that quarters for the Federal court can be provided just as soon as congress passes an omnibus building bill; and Mr. Black is of opinion that this will probably be in 1923, as it has been several years since there has been such a bill.

There is now available for construction about $170,000 and the bill now pending in the senate does not increase this amount. The plans as originally drawn will fit the new site exactly and are to be used; except that there is to construction only of the first story with a temporary roof, this to be removed and the second story added when funds are available.

The bill has gone to the senate, where it is in the hands of Senator Morris Sheppard. When Senator Sheppard was in Paris some months since he looked over the site and was sanguine that something could be done to secure early construction of a new building. Now that the bill is on the way, is satisfactory to all concerned, Senator Sheppard will probably get early action on the matter so that it will not be very many weeks until there is certainty of the new building.

It will be several months before construction is accomplished, of course; but at the end of that time the city of Paris will have a new Federal building and the old postoffice, which may be utilized in a number of ways for the benefit of the community.

Many suggestions have already been made as to the utilization of the building but these are somewhat premature as there must first be vacation by the postoffice and quite extensive repairs.

APPROVAL OF BONDS RECEIVED WEDNESDAY

A telegram was received at the mayor's office yesterday from Chas. B. Wood of Chicago, the attorney for the company that purchased the $300,000 school building bonds stating that he had given them his approval. This removes any obstacle to proceeding with the buildings as soon as the contract is awarded. As long as the bonds were not approved the contract, it was understood, could not be awarded.

Cullen Thomas Well Received By His Friend

toward peace or war. The world cannot stand another world war. On the backs of unborn generations is the crushing load of three hundred billion dollars piled up by war," Mr. Thomas said.

"A great Frenchman voiced the fear that bleeding France is a dying nation. The greatest of English statesmen, half in despair the other day, voiced the further fear that all Europe was about to lapse back ito the dark ages.

"Is not America the supreme hope of the world's civilization? Must not this republic realize its duty not only of self-defense but its responsibility to the world? Shall not the American people set their faces resolutely against future war? Must not the American congress lead and not follow the governments of the earth up the heights of peace and away from the black abyss of war?

"Do we realize that the militarists are contending for a bigger standing army and a mightier navy than before the world war? Do the over-burdened tax payers know that of the billions now raised to support the government one-fourth is levied to make ready for some future war?

"Whether in private or public life, I want to fight the madness of militarism and its half-brother, jingoism. One of the great democrats of the nation now dead welcomed the vision of this country annexing Canada. The thought is national folly. The same spirit was recently fanned into a flame with the demand that this country march on weak, bedraggled Mexico. That would have been National crime.

"Fundamentally the moral energies of the American people should be marshalled against the tragedy of war. The statesmenship of all nations is challenged to set up some sort of community of nations to avert the debacle of future war.

"Secret treaties have failed. Open alliances have failed. The policy of isolation of this country as a way to peace has failed. Rivalry of great powers in drilling armies and building battleships has failed. How can a new way be worse than the old ways? What better new way can be devised than the machinery of the League of Nations? Fifty leading nations of the earth have found it good enough for them. The greatest nation of the earth, whose head gave it birth, was a slacker to duty and opportunity.

"Let us devoutly pray that the God of Nations, who holds them in the hollow of his hand, guide us and inspire us as chosen people to be worthy of our place and heritage in the world's affairs."

Talking upon the problems of the farmer and declaring for the farm bloc, Mr. Thomas said:

"Texas has varied interests that go to make up its business and industrial life. The great masses of voters of our State live on the farm. The biggest business in Texas is farming. The basic business of the Nation is farming. The farmers constitute more than one-third of the country's population. The farmers aggregate more than one-third of the Nation's wealth.

"Again the problems of agriculture are the common problems of the American people. He is a small visioned man who does not know that all prosperity of all classes and callings and enterprises and industries is intimately interwoven with the prosperity of the farmers of the country.

"Through the years the farmers have been modest in their personal ambitions and trustful in the realm of politics. As I recall, there are but four practical farmers in the Lower House of Congress and not half that many in the Senate.

"The men and women of Texas are soon to pass on the aspirations of candidates for the Senate. The farmer is entitled to more than lip salve. They are tired of their patronizing friends who are long on words and short on deeds. I make no profession to superior knowledge and scorn the demagogue's low appeal, but mine has been the everyday lot. All my kinfolk back of me of whom I know were on the farm. During boyhood I knew the hardships of a Tennessee farm. Memories of those earlier years stimulate sympathy during these mature years.

"For two years the farmers of America have been in the slough of despondency. The farmers of the South have lost $2,000,000,000. The farmers of the country have been feeding and clothing 100,000,000 people without receiving in return for their sweat and toil enough to pay them the actual cost of what they produce. This situation is a challenge to men of head and heart.

"If elected to the Senate I shall dedicate the best that is in me to the sane and wise solution of agricultural problems bound up with the Nation's life. I shall be glad to join that patriotic group of men in both parties banded together to help lift the crushing load from the backs of the producers and consumers of this country.

"Special interests through the years have been organized in blocs. The packer bloc, the railway bloc, the steel bloc, the coal bloc, the oil bloc, these wnok what they want and they usually get what they want. They have their powerful lobbies outside Congress and their spokesmen inside Congress. Not in all things, but in spirit and in general program, I am for the farm bloc, and after the 4th of next March I expect to join the farm bloc."

What's the Difference ?

—If a man takes advantage of our Clothing Sale this week and saves $15 on the purchase of a suit and furnishing goods—or—

—if he loans some one $1,500,000 for thirty minutes and earns $15 interest?

—The element of time enters very largely into this transaction, for, in the first case, it would only require at the most 30 minutes to save the $15, while in the latter case it would take considerable time to count out the money and by the time it was counted out the interest would be due and there might arise a question.

—In the first transaction, however, there is no question about it, and there is no chance to be taken—it's already prepared for you and awaits your coming.

AND THAT RIGHT EARLY—

Come in Today if You Can, but Whether today or Tomorrow or Some Other Day, COME!

RUTH SAYS HE IS GOING TO BE GOOD

(Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, June 21.—Babe Ruth has been banished from the game for the last time for arguing with an umpire, especially over a decision against another player, the champion home run slugger declared here today.

Previous to today's game between New York and Cleveland, Ruth walked into the umpire's room at Dunn Field and made that announcement to Umpires Bill Dinen and Dick Nallin.

Ruth is under suspension for five days, three of which are for wrangling with Umpire Dinen over a decision rendered in Monday's game, for which he was ejected and two for an argument with Dinen yesterday over his first suspension.

When he entered the room Ruth was not in the least antagonistic nor was he excited. If anything he appeared to be penitent, but he offered no apology.

"Bill do you think I am getting a square deal?" Ruth asked Dinen as he sat on a table. He had just finished practicing with the team.

"I have nothing to do with that at all," Dinen replied.

"When a fellow is down and out, it seems to be a case of holding him down," Ruth stated. "Well, you can bet it's the last time I ever will be suspended for wrangling with an umpire. In the future I will keep out of the arguments, especially if they involve another player.

"I do not regret being out of the game because of the money it costs me. I really don't need the money, but I do love to play baseball. For that reason it hurts when I can't get into the game.

"Another thing that hurts is the criticism. Some persons are saying that I welcome the suspension! Suspension because it gives me an alibi for not equalling my home run record of last year. That is ridiculous as I realize that that is impossible. Others claim I have a 'swelled head'—friends know different.

"I want to be in there every minute because I love to play baseball."

WICHITA FALLS, June 21.—Organization of the infantry of the Thirty-six division, National Guard, is now complete, according to Major W. L. Culbertson, stationed here. The work has been in progress two years.

Church News

Services at the West Paris Baptist Sunday.

At the Sunday morning service Rev. E. S. Hutcherson spoke on the Bible. He discussed this sacred Book as to authorship, contents and our treatment of same.

He said there are many penmen such as Moses, David, Solomon, Jeremiah and Hosea but there is only one Author, God. As to the contents, this Book contains many great and glorious mountain peaks but no detail so small that it is a non-essential. God did not while away His time writing non-essentials. Everything that He put in it is essential for what He put it in there for. The Bible is too often a book that is not read. We would cherish and read a line from our mother or father, then why should we not read the Book by One who is better than any mother or father? We can never pass the high precepts that are laid down in this Book. This Book will be a true guide for our conduct until God calls our wayward feet from this earth; so let us read it.

For the evening message the pastor selected part of the 15th verse of the 24th chapter of Joshua. "And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom you will serve."

If it seem evil to you to serve a great God who has given us a free country, then choose another god and go to another land, but if you are here, then serve this God. If it does not seem evil to you to live in a country where the people worship according to the dictates of their own hearts then serve this God. Choose you this day whom you will serve! This is a day of choice. You may say I will not make a choice. Yes, you will. You are either for God or against Him.

Let us look at the two masters. The devil—who is he? He will lead you over the road of sorrow, heartache and trouble. You say you are a good moral man but you are not a follower of Christ. You are serving the one who will steal your wife from you—you are serving the one who will take away your fair daughter and go back after another victim. This devil that you serve is a merciless master. If you serve not Christ, there is not a home so contented that the master you serve will not blight your faith in your mother, he will fill you with disguest and say to you there is no such thing as hell.

What will this master give as reward? If you are not serving Christ, you are serving a master that will promise you everything in the world even as he promised Jesus Christ when he took Him upon the pinnacle and said, "Just fall down and worship me" and that is what he is saying to you. One time a sick man sent for another preacher and me. When we reached his bedside we found an old man 62 years of age suffering from a cancer of the stomach and he looked like a corpse. He told us that he was soon to die and the worst part of it was he was not ready to die. I want to say here that if you never allow a preacher to tell you how to live, you stand a very poor chance of letting a preacher tell you how to die. We talked with him and finally he said, "I trust in the Lord and I believe that it is all right." We asked him when he first felt that he should surrender his life to Christ and he said back in his teens. Then we asked him why he waited so long and he said the devil promised to make him a rich man. We asked if he got what he was promised, and he said in the midst of sobs, "If I die my neighbors and friends will have to bury me." It is just another bunch of lies of the devil to blight souls dooming them to a place where the fire never goes out. If you serve this man, he will blight your own soul. If it seem evil to you to serve a god like that, then choose you this day whom you will serve. Man, do you care for your own home? Then yhy serve a god that will blight it?

"If it seem evil to you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom you will serve; but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." Let others serve whom they will but from the time that Christ broke my soul with that conviction of His, how I long to have a better walk with him!

There are two masters but no man can serve them both. You have already made a plain and deliberate choice. You will either serve the devil or you will step over the line. Who is this other God that I am asking you to serve? He is the one that led Washington to give us a land of freedom. He is the one who holds your old mother's hand while she makes her last talk to you. He is the one who carries her through the mystical sea calm and serene. I am asking you to serve a God that will lead you down into the grave and bless you with a safe anchor that will hold in the gale. But more than that, when your travel here is ended up there will be a record and we will find a just reward for every act done. You have never given a drink of water as a disciple of God but you will be rewarded. You have never taken a man's hand when he needed a friend but you will be rewarded. Choose ye this day whom you will serve!

I think I can hear you say, "I know that my mother's God is all right, I know that this Book tells of a God that is all right and I know that the devil is evil but I will wait a while!" What does this text say? Choose ye tomorrow? A thousand times no! Choose ye this day.

There is a story that tells us about a man dreaming that he died and he saw the devil holding a meeting of his angels and imps that he might become more sure of bringing the people back to him. The first imp said let us tell them there is no such thing as a God but the devil said that would not do as anyone would know better than that. The second one said let us tell them that the Bible is not God's word but the devil said any man would know that is not so. Many suggestions were made but finally one said let us tell them that there is a God, that the preacher's message is true, that eternal damnation awaits them if they do not accept this God but tell them while they wait on earth that there is time enough yet.

That is the thing that is filling hell. That is the road paved to hell with the very best of intentions. Choose ye this day whom you will serve!

Party for Miss Wood's Class.

Last evening the class taught by Miss Hettie Wood at the First Methodist Sunday school enjoyed a most delightful lawn party at her home on Bonham street.

The girls had a few invited guests, Richie McGlasson, Aletha McCuistion, Mary Elizabeth Moore and Elizabeth Lewis acting as hostesses.

The time was spent in various games, and at the close of the evening a delicious refreshment course was served.

Radio Concert at Central Prayer Meeting.

After the usual order of prayer service, with a talk on the parable of the sower, those who attended the mid-week meeting at the Central Presbyterian church last night enjoyed a real radio concert.

Arrangements were made with the home station for several victrola selections, and these were probably picked up by numbers of receiving stations within the Paris radius of 100 miles.

At the conclusion of these numbers the amplifier introduced a new jazz selection, received from the Fort Worth station.

This concert was given in order to demonstrate the possibilities of the radio course offered at the Daily Vacation Bible School, and which is causing much interest and enthusiasm.

The reproductions were clear and distinct, those from Fort Worth, since they were actual transmissions, being louder than those of the records.

LEGAL NOTICES

AN ORDINANCE providing that the property bounded as follows: Situated between East Sherman street on the north, East Washington street on the south, South 23rd street on the east and South Church street on the west, and being block 140 according to the revised plat of the city of Paris, Texas, recorded in the office of the secretary of said city, shall be a compulsory sewer district, and that all premises situated within said boundaries, abutting on and within the drainage area of the existing sewer system, be connected therewith, and prohibiting the use of dry closets within said territory and prescribing penalties for violation and declaring an emergency. Be it ordained by the city council of the city of Paris: Section 7.—That a compulsory sewer district is hereby created of the territory described as follows: Situated between East Sherman street on the north, East Washington street on the south, South 23rd street on the east, and South Church street on the west, and being block 140 according to the revised plat of the city of Paris, Texas, recorded in the office of the secretary of said city. Sec. 2.—That all premises abutting on and within the drainage area of the present sewer system of the city of Paris and within the territory described in Sec. 1 hereof are required to be connected with the sewerage system of said city of Paris and the use of dry closets on or in any portion of said territory described in Sec. 1 hereof is hereby prohibited. Sec. 3.—It shall be the duty of the city engineer, on the passage of this ordinance, to make such a survey of the territory described in Sec. 1 hereof as may be necessary to ascertain the names of the owners and occupants of premises described in Sec. 1 hereof, which are within the drainage area of the present sewer system of the city of Paris, and to cause such survey to be filed and recorded in the records of his office. It shall be the duty of the city engineer as soon as said survey is made and filed in the records of his office, to notify the owners and occupants of all such premises that the same must be connected with the sewer system of the city of Paris within the time prescribed by this ordinance, and that the use of dry closets within said territory is prohibited, on the date said ordinance becomes effective. It shall be the duty of the city engineer to make an inspection of all premises within said territory and within the drainage area of the sewer system to ascertain if the same have been connected with said sewer system, and to file complaints in the corporation courts against any occupants of any of said premises who may be using dry closets therein, and against the owners of any and all premises which have not been connected with said sewer system, as provided by this ordinance. Sec. 4.—From and after the passage of this ordinance it shall be unlawful for the owner of any premises situated within the territory described in Sec. 1 hereof and within the drainage area of the present sewer system of the city of Paris not to connect with said sewerage system and to put in and maintain proper urinals and other fixtures for that purpose and it shall be unlawful for the tenant or occupant of any premises within the territory described in Sec. 1 hereof, which are within the drainage area of the present sewer system of the city of Paris to use or permit to be used any dry closet or other convenience other than proper fixtures connected with said sewer system or failing to furnish proper fixtures or using or permitting the using of any dry closet thereon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction of same in the corporation court shall be punished by a fine of not less than One or more than One Hundred dollars and each day's violation shall be considered a separate offense and punishable as such. Sec. 5.—That this ordinance take effect sixty days from its passage. The fact that sanitary conditions within said territory are a menace to the health of the residents thereof creates a public emergency requiring that the rules and charter provisions requiring that an ordinance be submitted to a committee and prohibiting its passage at meetings introduced be suspended and the same is accordingly done and this ordinance will take effect from and after its passage.

PITCHED A GAME WITHOUT A HIT

McCullough Did Well in His Opening Match in Sunday School League

McCullough made an impressive debut in the Sunday school league, for he held the Christian delegation without a hit in seven innings played. It is true the Christians managed to score a couple of runs; but they were made on fielding errors and through no fault of the pitcher.

It was a most excellent game. The Christians could not find McCullough and they were somewhat uncertain in their fielding, it being the opening game; but they demonstrated that they have the class and there are indications that they are going to be strong with a bit of practice.

Pate did well as a co-operator with McCullough; and the Methodists gave a very good exhibition.

The attendance was improved and this is an encouragement to the boys. Certainly if amateur sport is to be developed in Paris to a point where it should properly be, there must be attendance.

The First Baptists and the Central Presbyterians will get together Friday afternon at 5:30 at the ball park.

TEXAS LEAGUE
Eight Runs in Two Innings

HOUSTON, June 21.—What started out to be a pitchers' battle resulted in Houston scoring eight runs in the seventh and eighth frames. In the seventh Eiffert tripled with the bases crowded; in the next inning the Panther infield gave way, making three errors. This coupled with Buff hits netted the locals four more runs.

BRITISH TITLE IS TO BE DECIDED TODAY

NEW YORK, June 21.—Golfers throughout the country tomorrow will let their imaginations sweep across the Atlantic and be riveted on the Royal St. George's course at Sandwich, England, where three countrymen stand on the threshold of winning the premier golf classic of the world.

"Long Jim" Barnes, American open champion; Walter Hagen, Western open champion and title holder of the American Professional Golfers association; and Jock Hutchison, the British born American, who won the classic last year, are the trio representing the United States in the British open.

Each has an excellent chance to win in the two days' play of 36 holes each that starts tomorrow, all three qualifying without much difficulty.

TIGERS RAN INTO A SNAG IN BOSTON

The Braves Bunched Hits on Olson in Two Innings and Stopped Cobb

DETROIT, June 21.—Boston bunched hits off Olson in two innings today and aided by Rigney's error, defeated Detroit 9 to 8, breaking the locals' string of victories which stood at eight. The Tigers rallied in the closing innings, but could not overcome the Red Sox lead.

FRISCO PASSENGER TRAIN KILLS TWO FARMERS

Frisco passenger train No. 5 which arrives at Paris at 3:35 p. m., struck and killed two farmers between Rogers and Springfield, Ark., at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The men were on a tractor and were crossing the railroad track on the way to the field to attach it to a threshing machine when it was struck.

The acident occurred at a curve. Engineer Murphy did not see the tractor until it was too late to stop, but the men on the tractor, it was claimed, could have seen the train in plenty of time to jump and get out of the way.

The skull of one of the farmers was crushed and he was killed outright. The other man had one leg broken in three places and the other leg in one place. He received other injuries and died on the train while being taken to a hospital in Fort Smith.

The train was delaped an hour on account of the accident, but reached Paris on schedule time.

LAWYER GIVES FACTS IN CASE TO THE PUBLIC

St. Louis Attorney States That His Own Experience With Tanlac Has Proved It to Be a Remarkably Excellent Medicine.

"I give Tanlac entire credit for the good health I now enjoy," said W. O. Hall, 704 Central National Bank Building, St. Louis, Mo., well-known attorney.

"I had influenza which left my entire system weakened. I had no appetite and seemd to get no strength from the little I did eat. I was very nervous, could get no restful sleep, and suffered from headaches and dizzy spells. I had such a pain in my side at times I couldn't draw a deep breath, and my back hurt so bad I had trouble getting out of my chair.

"However, my first bottle of Tanlac gave me relief and four bottles have completely restored my health. The good Tanlac has done me justifies me in saying it is a most remarkable medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

DR M'CONNELL WILL TALK TO THE LIONS

President of Burleson College, Mrs. Rodgers and Miss Jones on Program

The Lions will have a varied and interesting program at their regular meeting today at 12:15. The committee, Messrs. Moore and Welborn, staging their first activities as Lions, have assembled a great group of talent for today's session. The speaker of the day will be Dr. McConnell of Greenville, president of Burleson College, regarded as one of the foremost educators and speakers in the state. Dr. McConnell is coming to Paris specially to deliver this address, and it will be well worth the hearing.

The musical number on the program is a solo by Miss Miriam Jones, who will be accompanied by Miss Thetis Williams. Miss Jones is one of the leading singers of the city, and her rendition will be enjoyable.

Mrs. Buford Rodgers will be an honor guest at today's meeting, and will talk on the work that is being done and that is necessary to be done in the Girl Scout movement. Mrs. Rodgers, together with a number of others ladies in the city, are greatly interested in this great work, and she will explain in detail to the Lions all the things that are necessary to put the proposition of the Girl Scouts on a substantial and satisfactory basis in Paris.

The Paris delegates to the national convention at Hot Springs are expected to arrive home in time to attend the meeting, and they should have some interesting things to relate. This committee consisted of Robert Coleman, J. W. Deweese and C. F. Collins.

It is hoped that there will be a full attendance today, as the program is sure to be both interesting and entertaining, and the members want to keep right in touch with activities in behalf of the Girl Scouts. Please phone Secretary Evans Wood not later than 9:30 if you can't be present, otherwise you will be considered as attending and will be charged accordingly.

VOTERS DIDN'T MATERIALIZE AT HIGH ROUNDUP

High was the place at which the candidates were to meet yesterday in the roundup, but outside of the storekeepers and the postmaster there were less than a half dozen present. There was no speaking and the candidates didn't tarry long. The voters were too busy with the work of catching up with their crops to devote any time to mingling with the candidates.

The latter didn't feel that they were slighted, knowing that the farmers had had much to contend with in their farming operations and had had many backsets. They were told by the postmaster and others that if they had made the date for last night they would have had a good crowd.

ROOF WAS SLIGHTLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

A residence at the corner of Sixteenth and Shiloh streets, which is owned by Dr. A. A. Hamblin and occupied by J. W. Smyers and family, caught fire at 11 o'clock yesterday morning by sparks falling on the roof while dinner was being prepared. An alarm was turned in and the fire was extinguished before it gained strong headway. The damage was about $25 to the roof. There was no damage to the furniture.

Taking Big Chances.

It is too much of a risk to depend upon neighbors or sending for medicine in case of a sudden attack of bowel complaint. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from cholera morbus that could easily have been saved had the proper medicine been at hand. The safe way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, a preparation that can be depended upon. Buy it now. It only costs 35 cents.

APPRECIATION OF PROF. EMORY SHAW

A Brief Review of What He Has Done During His Twelve Years in Paris

An appreciation of Professor Shaw by J. Leslie Finnell on behalf of his pupils. In presenting the cup to Prof. Shaw at the recital by Miss Mayer Tuesday evening, Mr. Finnell said:

It is customary with us Americans to withhold honors rightfully due our great until they have passed from this life. Then, we place more flowers upon their graves than we have given them in a whole life-time, erect monuments to their memory and set aside special days on which we call upon the young to emulate their example.

However, there is one in our midst whose work has been of such duration, character and importance that his pupils feel justified in breaking this American precedent and do hereby sound forth their hearty appreciation of Professor J. Emory Shaw, both as a man and as an artist, while the light of vigorous manhood is still upon his brow.

For twelve years Professor Shaw has been the outstanding musical authority in this section of the United States, giving eleven years of that time to Paris. In addition to his very busy life of teaching private pupils he has been organist for five churches and is at present the director of the First Baptist choir and director and organist at the First Christian church. He has organized and directed choral clubs in Bonham, Honey Grove, Roxton, Detroit and Paris. Has conducted spring festivals in Greenville, Bonham and Paris.

He has given highly appreciated renditions of no less than twenty-five larger choral works which include "The Redemption," "The Eve of Grace," "The Seven Last Words of Christ," "The Vision of the Queen," "The Sleeping Beauty," "The Crusaders," "The Rose of Avontown," "Hesperus," "Twilight Pictures," "King Rene's Daughter," "A Legend of Granada," and "Joan of Arc."

The memorable presentation of "Elijah," in which the Paris Choral Club was assisted by the famous St. Louis Symphony orchestra with imported soloists. One of these is now a leading artist with the Metropolitan Opera in New York. Space forbids my mentioning the numerous Christmas, Easter and other cantatas which he has given in the Paris churches.

But, Prof. Shaw, the gratitude of your pupils is such that mere words are not adequate to express their feeling toward you, so they have chosen to "Say it" with this beautiful loving cup. This token is composed of one of the rarest of metals and, therefore, emblematic of the rare esteem in which you are held by the donors. It is the sincere wish of us all that you may continue your splendid work among us for many, many years to come.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS WITH MUSIC BY RADIO

Aubrey Skidmore, who was in the signal service, has installed a receiving radio set at his home five miles east of town. He made the set himself. On Tuesday night he entertained some of his friends at his home by giving them an opportunity to hear music that was being played in Dallas. They also heard a lecture.

Mr. Skidmore heard about two weeks ago as distinctly as if he had been talking over the telephone, a musical that was being given in New York. The service is a great deal better when the weather is cool.

FEW VACANT PLACES FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS

Although the schools have been closed only a short while Miss Mysie Robinson, county superintendent, stated yesterday that there are few openings for teachers in the entire county. The fact that the teachers had to discount some of their vouchers in order to get them cashed has not had much effect in discouraging them from applying for their positions again.

Most of the trustees when the schools closed for the year renewed contracts with their teachers for another year.

WILL GO TO FORT SILL FOR 15 DAYS TRAINING

The clothing and personal equipment for the members of Battery A 132nd Field Artillery were distributed to them yesterday. The equipment was sent from Camp Mabry. The ordnance equipment has not yet arrived, but it is expected to be received any day. The battery expects to leave on the 25th of July for Fort Sill, Ok., for fifteen days training.

SCOUTS ARE TO BE IN PARADE

Will Have a Prominent Part in the Big Celebration of the Fourth

The Boy Scouts will have a prominent place in the parade on the Fourth of July.

All Scouts in Paris will participate and the Scouts from Roxton, Pattonville, Chicota and Minter are invited to be in the line with the Paris Scouts.

President Caldwell of the Fair association stated yesterday that all Scouts in uniform will be admitted free.

A large number of Scouts are eligible to the athletic events and will no doubt account for themselves.

While it is not absolutely necessary to have a Scout uniform to be a real Boy Scout, yet, the Scout uniform is respected and they are so thoroughly serviceable and the uniform can be bought for so little it would be well for each Scout to appear in uniform on special occasions.

All that is necessary for a summer uniform is a Scout hat which costs $2.25; shirt $1.50 and pants $2, making a total of $5.75.

VELVET BOB PREPARING TO GIVE ICE CREAM

Mr. Bob Bryant of the Velvet Ice Cream company is strong for the Scouts and to help make the Scout matinee Saturday morning a great success. He is going to give every one who attends this show a Velvet ice cream cone.

Mr. Musselman has gone to Dallas to select a suitable picture and the music will be furnished through the courtesy of Mr. Sam Reed.

The Scouts that are to box are working out so as to make the match really interesting.

The bill offered will appeal to everyone and no doubt there will be a large crowd.

K. OF C. PICNIC IS TO TAKE PLACE TODAY

In the event of rain, the picnic supper will be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, but if the weather is fair like it has been, and as it promises to be tonight, the picnic will take place at Wade Park, as announced in yesterday morning's News. There will be a car at the switch on Pine Bluff street for the convenience of those going to the grounds by street car. It is hoped that everybody will be there between 6:30 and 7:00 o'clock.

HOYT BRASELTON IS AGAIN IN HIGH CLASS

W. Hoyt Braselton has again won a trip, this being presented by the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., of which he is the local agent. Mr. Braselton qualified in the $250,000 club, which entitles him to an extensive trip. The Missouri State Life agents will meet in annual convention in St. Louis, July 6, 7 and 8, and following this the members of the quarter million club will go to Detroit, Mich., and from there will take a trip on the Great Lakes, this trip to last for six days. Mr. Braselton has always been well up among the leaders in business for his company, and has won signal honors repeatedly on the amount of business he turned in.

TENANT FARMER FILES BANKRUPT PETITION

Wesley G. Slade, a tenant farmer who is living at Monkstown, Fannin county, filed a petition in the Federal court at Paris yesterday asking that he be adjudged a voluntary bankrupt. The total indebtedness is scheduled at $5676, of which amount the sum of $1558 is unsecured. The total assets are scheduled at $100, representing the petitioner's interest in a share crop, "plus an insurance policy of unknown value" and "wearing apparel in actual use."

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo. — "I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles." — Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury St., St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner.

EXPECTS TO USE CALCIUM ARSENATE

He Has All Ready Commenced to Fight the Weevils With Small Machine

The Boll Weevil Problem.

Is the title of a pamphlet just issued by the Federal department of agriculture. It deals very thoroughly with the methods of reducing damage by the weevil. It will be sent to any address by writing to the division of Publications, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and asking for Farmers Bulletin 1264. There is no charge for the pamphlet.

J. H. Johnston, who was in the city yesterday from his farm on the river at Davenport, stated that crops are clean but that the weevils are bad. He is going to poison them with calcium arsenate under government direction. He doesn't propose to lose any time, but will begin right away. In fact he has already commenced applying the poison with a small machine.

J. M. Campbell of Chicota says that he doesn't know of any remedy except to keep plowing and keep the ground stirred so as to knock the weevils off and cover them up. He is of the opinion that hot dry weather will go a long way toward checking the boll weevil menace.

Jep Taylor, who farms three miles below Rockford, says that he doesn't know whether he will apply any remedy or not, but thinks he will. He hasn't investigated the cost of applying a remedy and doesn't know whether anything can be found that will not cost more than it will come to. He doesn't know what will be best to do.

Dr. A. A. Hamblin, who has a farm near Ambia, says his cotton is looking fine, and that he hasn't seen any signs of boll weevils yet. If they come he is going to fight them provided the expense is not more than he can afford, but he says if we don't have too much wet weather in July and August they won't hurt much. The crop is away ahead of what it was this time last year and the farmers have much better prospects, in his opinion.

Oscar Ford, living a mile and a half east of Blossom, says he has pretty near got to make a cotton crop. If he doesn't he doesn't know what he will do. For that reason he expects to try to fight them. He has been noticing about the government remedy and will try that, or whatever his neighbors decide to use. He has heard a good many talking about doing something and others who declare they have no faith in any of the so-called remedies. There are already weevils in his cotton, but it is too small yet to tell whether any damage has been done. The weevils are puncturing the bud.

W. O. Parker, three miles southeast on the Jefferson road, says he hasn't figured on doing anything for the weevils. There has been a lot of argument and talk about them, but he can't see that they are any worse than they have always been. The crops suffer more from all kinds of insects in wet seasons than when it is dry.

A. W. Shew of the Atlas community says that he doesn't know of any remedy for the weevils, and that he isn't figuring on anything. He doesn't know anyhow whether they ought to be killed. They keep the production down.

A. B. Williams of the Biardstown community says that he is not figuring on anything to do to his cotton, except to plow and keep plowing so as to knock the grubs off in the hot dirt and cover them up and cook them.

Parties who were in the city from Chicota stated that R. J. Haynes, who owns a farm in the river bottom, was expecting to plow up every other row of his cotton in order to keep it from shading the weevils and to let in more hot sunshine.

W. M. Page, living near Powderly, says that he is not going to do anything to fight the weevils. His idea is that if the seasons come right they will make a cotton crop and that if they don't, they can't do much good with them. Wet weather in July and August would help the weevils and it would probably cost more than would be gained by trying to fight them.

J. F. Ford, living north of town, says that he doesn't think he will try to fight the weevils. He does not think it practical to use machines, and the little farmers and tenants can't afford to buy them. If the landlords with big farms want to experiment they can do it, but the renters can't afford to do it. The landlords ought to furnish to the renter whatever remedy is applied.

J. A. Pettit, living below Jennings, says that he will not try to keep the weevils from eating his cotton. It would cost more than would be gained by experimenting with so-called remedies. Some of the neighbors are figuring on doing something, but he doesn't know what they will do.

C. B. Barham of the Broadway community says he doesn't think he will use anything to kill the weevils. All of the farmers down his way keep hives of bees and if any kind of poison dope is used on the weevils it will kill the bees too and do more harm than good. He expects to plow his cotton every fourteen days if it doesn't rain to keep the weevils knocked off.

PINK BOLLWORM WARNING ISSUED

Commissioner Terrell Wishes to Be Advised Promptly of Any Suspicions

AUSTIN, Texas, June 21.—Commissioner of Agriculture George B. Terrell says Texas cotton growers should not lull themselves into a sense of security because no one has heard of pink boll worms so far this season.

"The time for the appearance of the pink bollworm has not arrived," said Mr. Terrell, "and it will be the latter part of August or early September before the first manifestations can be expected. Until the bolls form the pink bollworm is not in evidence.

"In this connection," continued Mr. Terrell, "I want to plead with and argue every farmer in Texas to watch his cotton fields closely and to promptly send to this department any strange worms or suspicious bolls. In that way we can get quick action. I will send an inspector to the field immediately if the specimen is at all suspicious, and if the pink bollworm is there we can take immediate steps to prevent a spread of th dangerous and serious pest.

"Texas is a large State with the largest area of cotton fields of any State in the Union and this department can not go out blindly hunting pink bollworms. We must have clues and leads, otherwise it will be in the haystack. Once we get on the trail of the pest our experts will do the rest and I want the co-operation of every farmer in the State. I am making this early plea to them so they will be on the lookout and not lose any time in advising this department of the presence of anything the identity of which is not fully established. We must get that full co-operation if we are to nip the worm as it starts."

Mr. Terrell said he was not an alarmist by any means, but that there was so much exposed seed scattered over Texas after last season that he is fearful that the pest is going to appear in several places and, of course, he can not anticipate where. It is because of this uncertainty that he is asking for field inspections and quick notificaton of suspicious worms and boils. He said that the egg is laid under the square out of the sun and that when the pink worm develops it bores into the cotton boll and kills it. He says a small black spot on the boll, slightly larger than a pin head, is the place of entrance to the boll and should be looked for by those hunting for pink bollworms.

Mr. Terrell called at the Governor's office today and is desirous of having the pink bollworm compensation board appointed by the Governor to adjust claims for cotton fields that might be destroyed this year and to make appraisements for the 1918 field destruction.

There is an appropriation of $100,000 out of which the State pays farmers whose fields are destroyed to arrest the progress of the pink bollworm.

The fields are examined and condemned under the jurisdiction of the Pink Bollworm Commission of five members, which is now in existence. There is a compensation board of three members which fix the damages to be paid the farmer whose cotton is destroyed.

The services of the three former members have terminated. They were J. W. Blake of Houston, J. P. Walker and S. L. Quicksall.

While the board of three will provide for the payment of the current year's claims out of the appropriation already made, it can not pay the claims for the fields destroyed in 1918, but is expected to make an appraisal of same so that the next legislature will make an appropriation to reimburse those farmers.

Indigestion or constipation are to a great extent responsible when old age lacks beauty and happiness. This can often be remedied by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the digestion, invigorate the liver and move the bowels. This makes you feel better and look better. Try it. They only cost a quarter.

CLARENCE OUSLEY MAKES HIS CLAIM

"He Has Not a Chance" Is Being Used Against His Candidacy

LAMPASAS, June 21.—In his speech here today Hon. Clarence Ousley said:

"With the close of the campaign only thirty days off, the time has come for plain speaking, and I shall exercise the privilege of free speech even at the peril of seeming to be immodest.

"I have yet to visit a county where I am not told that many men prefer me but have been told by friends of opposing candidates that I cannot win. It is not for me to say that I am the best qualified man for United States senator but when other men say it and then say that I cannot be elected I resent the statement as an insult to the intelligence and patriotism of the people.

"I now make bold to say what I have refrained from saying before. I have waited until I have visited more than half the populous counties of the State. (I profess some skill as a political observer) and I am taking pains not to fool myself. I declare the firm belief that if the people who have not yet committed themselves divide in the ratio of those who have committed, then it is certain that the democrats of Texas will have a chance to vote for me or against me in the second primary.

"My supporters are not vehement or loud mouthed. They are the quiet, substantial, thoughtful and industrious farmers, merchants, bankers and thinking men of Texas who understand the real issues before the nation, who approve my views and who are undisturbed by old prejudices, but irrevelant questions and by passing whims. They realize that the senatorship is a man-sized job, that it should not be conferred as a distinction or a reward but as a task to be performed by intelligence and industry.

"I dislike to say this and I do so only because I am unwilling longer to permit designing men and ignorant men to deceive the people, with the slander that a thoughtful and qualified man can not be elected without appealing to passion or clique.

"I am not so bold as to say that I will be elected but I dare to say that if the citizens who approve my views and believe me fit for the office will vote their convictions I am certain to be elected. I know as thoroughly as I know my name that in mind and heart, in purpose and policy, I am in accord with the majority of the democrats of Texas."

COTTON OFF, THEN UP, CLOSED DOWN

Realizing Toward the End of the Day Sent the Prices to the Bottom

NEW YORK, June 21.—The cotton market recovered after an opening decline owing to reports of trade buying and bullish spot advices; but broke again, reaching the lowest prices of the day in the late trading under more or less general liquidation or realizing.

October sold off from 22.89 to 22.40 and closed at 22.42, with the general market closing barely steady at a net decline of 28 to 38 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 14 to 24 points. Before the end of the morning active months sold 4 to 9 points net higher with July touching 22.87 and December 22.65. As the demand tapered off, realizing became a little more active and the selling was quite general in the late trading when July broke to 22.40, and December to 22.25, or 35 to 41 points net lower. Last prices were within a point or two of the lowest under continued wire and commission house liquidation. The weekly crop weather report indicated that cotton had made improvement over the greater part of the belt and the late selling movement was accompanied by talk of probable favorable end-month condition reports. Exports today were 16,012 bales, making 5,553,817 so far this season. Port receipts 14,271. United Staes port stocks 770,868.

CROP REPORTS WERE REGARDED FAVORABLE

NEW ORLEANS, June 21.—The weekly crop reports from the government were regarded as highly favorable by the cotton trade today and they caused wide declines in the late trading after the market had made considerable show of steadiness. Selling was heaviest toward the end of the session when it forced last prices 39 to 45 points under the close of yesterday. Last prices were at net losses of 38 to 41 points. July traded down to 22.67 and closed at that figure.

Realizing sales from the long side and a lower Liverpool contract market than due were responsible for declines of 12 to 16 ponts in the early trading, but when July touched 22.88, a new demand entered the market based on showery weather in the Eastern half of the belt, and the sales of 15,000 bales on the spot in Liverpool. This demand continued after the reading of the weekly crop reports and it seemd to be quite generally the opinion that it was coming from trade interests.

Small recoveries from the early losses persisted to the noon hour, when offerings were greatly increased, apparently being the result of more careful consideration of the government's crop reports. There was also a rumor that a private bureau was out, or was coming out, with a report showing improvement of about 6 points in the percentage of conditions of the crop during June. In the late trading the tone of the market was distinctly easy.

AN ACTIVE TRADE IN HOGS AT ADVANCE

FORT WORTH, June 21.—Buyers merely picked over the cattle supply Wednesday morning, taking such stuff as they actually needed and neglecting everything else. Lower bids were offered, where placed, and hardly enough business was going on to make a market quotable. Two cars of choice yearlings sold at 9.00. The best calves here went at 7.75; the calf market was quoted steady with the week's decline. Practically everything else was lower.

Receipts amounted to 2500 head of cattle and 1,600 calves.

Not more than 5 cents was tacked onto the price of hogs Wednesday, but at that advance the trade was active, about 1,000 head being on offer. The top was 10.30. Bulk sales ranged from 10.00 to 10.30. Pigs ranged around 9.00 to 9.25.

A HEAVY BUSINESS WAS DONE IN CUBAN SUGARS

NEW YORK, June 21.—The raw sugar market was firm and it was reported that of yesterday's business in Cubas, which aggregated about 178,000 bags, some of it was for prompt shipment and being a spot quotation of 3⅝, cost and freight, equal to 4.73 for centrifugal with July at the same level. There were also sales late yesterday of 4,690 bags of Porto Ricos and 9,700 bags of Philippine Island for July shipment at 4.34 cif, delivered. Today's transactions amounted to 45,000 bags of Cubas for August shipment at 3¾, cost and freight, equal to 4.86 for centrifugal.

Raw sugar futures were active again and the prices were firmer, closing at a net advance of 5 to 7 points. There was continued buying believed to be for Wall street and trade account prompted by the firmness of the spot market and final prices were within a point of the highest of the season. July 3.02; Sep. 3.24; Dec. 3.35; March 3.28.

There were further advances in refined sugar with list prices ranging from 6.00 to 6.20 for fine granulated. The demand continues active and little if any new business is being accepted at the inside prices. Refined futures nominal. Closings: July 6.45; Sep. 6.35; Dec. 6.56.

NEW CRUDE FROM TEXAS HURT THE PRICE SOME

NEW YORK, June 21.—After advancing 3 to 10 points on scattered buying of old crop months cottonseed oil reacted somewhat on reports of Texas offering new crude and more favorable weather generally. Closing bids were unchanged to 5 points net higher. Sales 12,600 barrels. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow spot 11.40; July 11.45; Sep. 11.61; Dec. 9.55, all bid.

LIQUIDATION SENT COFFEE A BIT LOWER

NEW YORK, June 21.—The market for coffee futures was a little easier early today under liquidation of near months in preparation for possible notices next week. The opening was unchanged and July contracts soon firmed up on covering and reports of firmer Brazilian markets. July rallied to 10.25, while December sold up from 9.79 to 9.97, with the market closing at a net advance of 8 to 19 points. Sales, including switches were estimated at about 72,000 bags. July 10.14; Sep. 10.08; Oct. 10.05; Dec. 9.97; Jan. 9.91; March 9.80; May 9.75.

Spot coffee quiet; Rio 7s 10¾; Santos 4s 14⅜@14⅝.

BULLISH NEWS SENT WHEAT PRICES UP

CHICAGO, June 21.—Predictions that threshing returns from the domestic winter crop Southwest and West would prove disappointing, counted to some extent as a bullish factor in the wheat market today, especially during the last hour.

Prices closed unsettled, at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅝ cent higher, with July 1.13⅜@1.13¾ and September 1.13½@1.13⅝.

Corn gained ⅝@1 cent, and oats ½@¾ cent. In provisions the outcome varied from unchanged figures to 5 cents advance. Corn and oats showed independent strength, a good deal of buying being based on past experience in the corn trade that the price of corn generally moves up about this time. Elevator interests here bought more than 500,000 bushels of corn to arrive.

COTTON GOODS SHOW AN UPWARD TENDENCY

NEW YORK, June 21.—Cotton goods were firmer today with an upward tendency. Print cloths were advanced ⅛ cent and denims ½ cent. Yarns were firmer on trading of a small volume. An improvement was noted in silk goods markets. Stock goods were in demand in the wool and worsted goods trade. Burlaps were firmer.

Everyone is feeling fine over nice weather we are having.

We have no sickness in our neighborhood. Little G. B. James' arm is still improving and he was able to attend Sunday school.

Our children's day program was well carried out at the Sunday school board. Everyone seemed to enjoy it. Brother Vaughn preached a fine sermon to the children.

There will be choir practice at the church Wednesday night and we hope eevryone will go that can sing and practice up and get ready for our meeting which will begin on the second Sunday in July. Badget's Sunday evening.

CULLEN THOMAS SPOKE AT H. G.

Candidate for the Senate Had a Fairly Representative Crowd to Hear Him

HONEY GROVE, Texas, June 21.—Hon. Cullen Thomas, candidate for the United States Senate, addressed a fairly large crowd at the tabernacle here this afternoon in the interest of his campaign. Mr. Thomas is an interesting speaker and is one of the strong men in the race. His speech here was along the lines of those he has made elsewhere and a discussion of the principles involved in the campaign.

Mrs. J. C. Joiner and little Miss June Smith went to Paris where they will spend a few days visiting.

J. A. Underwood was a business visitor in Dallas yesterday.

Delma Yearger, Truman Provine and John Turner went to Sulphur, Ok., today where they will play base ball with the Sulphur independent team.

Arrangements have been made here for the showing of the Department of Agriculture motion picture, "How to Poison Boll Weevils." This picture will be shown at the Strand and Topic theatres on Saturday July 1, at the Strand in the afternoon and at the Topic at night. No admission will be charged for the picture. The picture is being shown here for the benefit of the farmers who are making an effort to rid their crops of the boll weevils, and it will no doubt be profitable to them. Many of the farmers in this section who are troubled with the pests are going to fight them to the limit this year.

Hon. B. B. Sturgeon of Paris will make a speech at the tabernacle in Honey Grove Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The nature of the address has not been given out, but it is stated that it will be non-political.

Good Road Engineer P. B. Price received a message from Dr. M. E. Daniel, who is in Austin in the interest of the road work in this district, informing him that the State Highway Commission had given Honey Grove $100,000 Federal aid on highway No. 5, which runs east and west out of Honey Grove. Simultaneously with this, the attorney general approved the $300,000 road bonds for the district and the bonds are now being printed. This means that actual road work can be started in the very near future. Surveying was resumed yesterday on the Johnson Crossing road, which runs north of Honey Grove. This comes as good news to the Honey Grove folks, as they have been waiting for three years for the work to be resumed.

H. A. Cunningham died at his home in this city about noon today, following several strokes of paralysis within the past week. Mr. Cunningham has been in bad health for some time but has just been confined to his bed for six days. He is about 36 years of age and leaves a wife and mother and father to survive him. He has been in the barber business in Honey Grove for something like seven or eight years and has many friends who regret his death. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
Honey Grove Natatorium
will be open day and night, except Sunday, during the season commencing Wednesday, June 14th.

DELTA POLITICS NOT YET WARM

Candidates Got Together at Liberty Grove and Made a Good Many Promises

COOPER, June 21.—The candidates' meeting and speaking at Liberty Grove three miles south of Cooper Tuesday night was a source of much merriment and campaign promises. A good crowd turned out to hear the promises as well as to give the bunch the once over. Ben Clowers made his first speech in behalf of his candidacy for the office of county attorney, followed by Rube S. Wells and L. L. James for the same office. Mr. Clowers is making the race on his merits inasmuch as he is a recent student at the State University. Mr. Wells is making the race on his past record as an attorney, while Mr. James is making the race on his past record as county attorney and as an anti-clan candidate. In other words Mr. James is opposed to the Klan and is making it an issue in his campaign. The game of soliciting votes is growing warmer and the various races will be run with much speed. There is a larger crop of candidates this year than in many years and possibly larger than ever in the history of the county.

Cullen F. Thomas is due to speak in Cooper Thursday, June 22 at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Thomas has been mentioned but little so far in this city. However, the average citizen is waiting to get open mouth expressions from the different candidates before they talk much.

E. D. Broadhead, wife and daughter, Miss Margaret, returned from a trip overland to Groesbeck, Fort Worth and the oil fields of Mexia and Wortham. Mr. Broadhead encountered no bad roads except in the oil fields.

Jim Harcrow, a former citizen of Cooper but now of Clovis, N. M., is shaking hands with old acquaintances in Cooper this week. Mr. Harcrow reports that the crops in the plains country are good and they had abundance of rain there the last few days.

The men in charge of the big machine that was finishing the city's part of the State highway, have completed their labors and have gone to other fields. The work seems to be entirely satisfactory in every respect and the coating of asphalt allays the dust as well as keeping the road in a good hard, smooth condition.

With the coming of dry weather large numbers of people from Cooper, both white and black, can be seen making their way to the cotton patches early every morning and in addition some folks are having delayed improvements done about the home; some repainting, others remodeling, and a spirit of doing something prevails. The mayor has started the second weed cutting compaign and many lots are made to look better.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church by Rev. W. A. Stuckey for Mrs. Lay at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Since losing her husband a number of years ago Mrs. Lay has lived close at home in East Cooper and in late years was little known.

INSTALLATION BY MASONS OF DEPORT

Ceremonies are to Be Joint and the Public Will Be Invited Saturday Eve

DEPORT, Texas, June 21.—The Blue Lodge and Chapter of the Masonic Lodge and the Eastern Star will hold a joint public installation of officers Saturday night in the Masonic hall. Committees composed of members of each lodge met this afternoon to arrange the program.

Rev. Duncan of Texarkana, Baptist Missionary for Red River and Bowie counties was a Deport visitor today.

Ben Griffin and Reg Bell, leading farmers of the Rugby community, were shopping in Deport today.

George Terry, commissioner of the precinct was transacting business here today.

The Sunday school baseball game between the Methodists and Baptists yesterday afternoon resulted in a score of 13 to 1 in favor of the Methodists. Batteries: Methodist, Oliver and Lawler; Baptist, Westbrook and Dickson.

The Methodists and Presbyterians also played a game resulting in a score of 5 to 3 in favor of the Presbyterians. Batteries, Presbyterian, Read and Jackson; Methodist, Lawler and Lawler.

Mrs. Ed Terry and children of Minter were Deport visitors today.

W. H. Jones, Jr., and Marshall Walker of Cooper, spent a short time in Deport this afternoon. They had been over to Clarksville and Annona looking over the oil situation.

Mrs. Marshall Jones and Marshall, Jr., returned to their home in Cooper this afternoon, after several days' visit with Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. D. Thompson.

Noel Terrell of Bogata transacted business here today.

Most of the farmers got back to work at their crops today but will take two weeks' work to get the crops cleaned out.

Direct.

The farmers put in a fine week as the weather was favorable the past week and if the coming week will permit, most everybody will almost catch up with their work. There is a good deal of cotton yet to be chopped and several spots of low land to be planted in June corn.

The Direct ball team played Maxey yesterday and the score was 15 to 3 in favor of Direct.

Church Sunday and a very good crowd out. Services were conducted by Rev. Reese and everybody enjoyed the sermon very much.

J. R. Pierson and family are visiting relatives in Oklahoma.

M. L. Sain had a fine horse to die Friday from the heat.

Everybody has saved this cutting of hay.

Misses Ethel Brown and Alma Brown and Neva Scott who are attending school at Commerce this summer spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Blossom Prairie.

Mrs. Lucian Hancock is still confined to the house on account of rheumatism. She has had it about two weeks.

Rev. Hall of Detroit commenced a meeting at Mosely last Thursday night with only a small attendance, which was increased Friday night notwithstanding the fact that Cyclone Davis spoke at Deport that night and drew some from the community.

Mrs. Allen, at the head of the dressmaking department of Burton-Peel's at Paris, is conducting a class in home dressmaking. Mrs. Teague, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Antone and Miss Gray of Deport are taking advantage of this opportunity.

Miss Maldia Blow visited Mrs. J. S. Brackeen of West Paris a few days last week, coming back by Deport and visiting with Mrs. Jno. Antone for one night.

OIL DEVELOPMENT IN RED RIVER CO.

Representatives of the Leading State Papers Asked for to Look Over Situation

CLARKSVILLE, June 21.—Circulars were distributed on the streets Tuesday afternoon calling a mass meeting at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters to discuss oil development in Red River county. The meeting, presided over by B. F. Marable, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was attended by about forty local people.

A resolution was adopted instructing Secretary Egbert Thompson of the Chamber of Commerce to write the Dallas News and Fort Worth Star-Telegram and ask that representatives of both papers be sent to Clarksville to give the local industry a "write up." It was agreed by those present that more publicity is needed. J. R. Lucore, in charge of the Dimple well, stated that his reamer was within 18 feet of the rock. He expects to reach the rock today and will drill through the rock immediately. He expects to bring in this Thursday.

The street paving forces today completed work on Spruce street and transferred all machinery to Monroe. The paving of Washington and Spruce streets, just completed, affords a loop of twelve blocks, and gives access to the high school building, south side, the Clarksville cemetery and the tabernacle. After Monroe and Spruce streets have been paved the paving people will move to Roberts street, paving west from the City Hospital corner to the ward school building.

All plans have been completed for the 1922 roundup by local candidates. The campaign will open at Cuthand on the afternoon of Monday, July 3, and will close at Clarksville on the afternoon of Friday, July 21.

Two primaries will be held in Red River county for the selection of county democratic nominees, according to the decision of the executive committee this week. The second primary will be held on the last Saturday in August. The official pledge as provided by the Terrell election law will be printed on the primary ballots.

Sumner.

Sunday School and singing were well attended Sunday. Next Sunday Bro. Vaughn will fill his regular appointment at this place. There will also be a children's service. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

A. Wisely had the misfortune to get his shoulder broken while he was driving some cattle; his horse fell with him. He was bruised up considerably, but his condition is not serious.

W. P. White is now able to be about on his crutches.

Mrs. W. B. Garrett of Mangum, Ok., returned home last week accompanied by her sister, Miss Dorothy Latimer, who will remain possibly a year.

TO INVESTIGATE DEPOSITS OF POTASH

AUSTIN, June 21.—Interest in the possibility of large deposits of potash being developed on lands owned by the Uinversity of Texas in the Western part of the State has increased by reason of the fact that preparations are being made for a thorough test of the extent that this valuable mineral salt may be found in Reagan county.

SEN. CAPPER PREDICTS WEEKS' RESIGNATION

TOPEKA, Kan. June 21.—Senator Capper of Kansas, in a special dispatch received here tonight declares that Secretary of War Weeks is out of tune with the Harding administration and that if he does not resign, his resignation might very properly be requested by the president.
